

Journal of International Students

PO Box 1270 State University
Arkansas State University, AR 72467
E-mail: center.asu@gmail.com
<http://jistudents.org/>

Among the topics that Journal focuses on are:

- Abuse/assaults/discrimination/prejudice against international students
- Academic adjustment of international students and scholars
- Academic advisor-international student relationships
- Academic and immigration advisors,
- Accommodation/housing for international students
- Adjustment needs, issues, patterns and success stories
- Adjustment/acclimation of international students and scholars
- Alienation, loneliness, and security for international students
- Banking services for international students
- Campus services and satisfaction of international students
- Campus support services and international students
- Classroom behavior/international patterns of international students
- College culture (classroom expectations, academic honesty, plagiarism)
- College experience of international students
- College search, program of choices, reliability of university website
- Communication problems and language issues
- Counseling, mental health and help-seeking behavior of international students
- Cross-border networking/connections with homes
- Cross-cultural encounters/intercultural relations
- Cross-cultural studies (adjustment, culture shock, acculturation, self-esteem)
- Cultural differences/cultural essentialism
- Cultural identity, national identity, cross-cultural identity
- Culture shock, loneliness and personal networks
- Educational agents/educational consultancies/marketing/recruitment
- Educational services for overseas students (ESOS)
- English as a second language programs for international students
- English language proficiency, learning outcomes, college experience
- Enrollments and tuition revenues
- Ethnic and minority students, college diversity
- Ethnocentrism/cultural sensitivity
- Expectations, experiences and resources for international GA/GTAs
- Faculty-study relations, peer relationships for international students
- Foreign credentials and GPA evaluations
- Foreign policy, international policy, immigration policy
- Fulbright program, educational experience and study abroad
- Gender, gender -based violence, discrimination
- Global mobility/global citizenship/global student market
- Global student market/international experience in the workforce
- Globalization and international education
- Globalization, internationalization, cultural influences
- Graduate international student support programs

- Health insurance, health benefits of international students
- Higher educational policies of sending and hosting countries
- Housing, homestay and college hostels
- Immigration issues and visa policies of international students
- Individualism and collectivism for international students
- Intercultural communication, intercultural relations, student involvement
- Intercultural relations and international students
- International education/transnational education/cross-broad education
- International STEM students and government interests
- International student admission requirement and college programs
- International student college success
- International student concerns
- International student criminals
- International student GA/TA/RA development programs
- International student organizations and clubs
- International student retention, admissions, transfer, support systems
- International student visa, change of status, transfer
- Internationalization of teaching, learning and research
- Intimacy, self-respect, self-esteem, and life style of international students
- Islam, Muslim students and Student College experience
- Language factors/language proficiency/communication/networks
- Multiculturalism, diversity, hybridity and diaspora
- Overseas study, learning/teaching styles, class participation
- Psychological trends and issues of international students
- Racial profiling, racial stereotyping
- Regulatory protection
- Relationship with universities, faculty, staff and community members
- Rights to work, off and on-campus employments/International student workers,
- Role of bridge programs and student success
- Role of immigration advisors/visa monitoring
- Roles and responsibility of provider institutions
- Scholarships, grants and fellowships for international students
- Security of international students
- Serotypes/segregation/ taboos
- Social and economic security of international students
- Social networks of international students/same-culture networking
- Spouses and dependents of international students
- Student online forum and use of networking and technology
- Student visa, immigration rules and SEVIS
- Students' consumer rights and protection
- Study abroad preparation, role of agents or consultancies
- Tax/tax returns and SSN, rights and entitlements
- Technology and international students
- Trends and issues of international student and scholar mobility

Types of Manuscripts:

1. Peer Reviewed Articles (Interdisciplinary topic related to international students, between 2,500 to 5,500 words)
2. Student Reflections (Study abroad, cross-cultural experiences of students, between 1,000 to 1,500 words)
3. Professional Book Reviews (Reviews on the titles related to international students/cross cultural issues, between 750 to 1,200 words)

Electronic submission via email: Editor (Krishna Bista), center.asu@gmail.com

About the Journal:

Journal of International Students (Print ISSN: 2162-3104, Online: ISSN 2166-3750) publishes original and quality research, conceptual papers and book reviews related to international student affairs, teaching and learning or cross-cultural understanding. For more information: <http://jistudents.org/>